Texthelp

Hello, we're Texthelp, a leading inclusive software provider and a proud disability confident employer. We know the importance of not only recruiting but retaining a diverse and talented workforce. That's why we've created our accessibility tools to support your journey.

Our website accessibility tool makes online information accessible, helping you to attract a wider talent pool and leading to a more diverse workplace.

Retaining and supporting your employees is just as important as recruiting them. Read&Write, our digital support software, provides individualised support for staff with neurodiversities, such as dyslexia, aspergers, autism, dyspraxia and ADHD. The current climate, with so many employees working from home and relying on digital technology in order to do so, means that those with neurodiverse conditions can experience digital literacy challenges. Our assistive technology, Read&Write, enables staff to communicate with greater confidence and be more productive and engaged in their work.
