Neurodiversity at Work: Thinking Differently & Supporting Unique Talents

Thursday, 19th August 2021 | Online Event

Operating in a world which was not designed for you can present significant challenges. Neurodivergent staff and jobseekers are often disadvantaged by traditional systems which organisations have in place.

Failing to address these barriers puts your organisation at a significant disadvantage, given neurodiversity presents unique competitive advantages in the workplace. Talents associated with neurodivergence include an exceptional ability to spot patterns, increased creativity and problem-solving skills.

At 'Neurodiversity at Work', you will receive expert insight into different forms of neurodiversity (such as autism, dyslexia, dyspraxia and ADHD) and the unique attributes associated with each. Through workshops, case studies, and personal perspectives, you will be provided with the understanding needed to create a neurodiverse workplace that enables both staff and business to thrive.

Please note that on-demand video recordings of all sessions will be made available to delegates following the event.

Why attend?

- Learn how to ensure that neurodiverse staff and their managers are supported, to ensure that staff can do their best work
- Bring new, innovative ideas around creating a neurodiversity-inclusive culture in your workplace back to your organisation, with the insight needed to put them into practice
- Hear from leading figures on adapting workplace policy and practice to ensure that neurodiverse staff are supported and can reach their potential
- Receive on-demand recordings of all sessions after the event
